Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Saturday 27 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cloudier and windy with rain, but mostly dry in south.

This Evening and Tonight:
Apart from an isolated shower at first, many southern parts dry, but turning cloudier later. Rain, already over north-western parts, sinking into central areas, followed by showers in the north. Windy, with gales in the north.

Sunday:
Rain across central areas moving north, persistent and heavy over parts of northwest England and western Scotland. Further south mostly dry, some bright or sunny spells southeast. Mild but windy.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Rain persisting in the northwest before easing and moving south midweek. Elsewhere plenty of fine and sunny weather with winds easing. Turning very warm in the south.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.